

Excavation of the Aisled Building (1)

The Aisled Building was excavated in 2012 and 2013.

A ditch underneath the Aisled Building produced the evidence for wealthy inhabitants at Warblington in the late Iron Age through two key discoveries in 2012:

Pieces of a large Iron Age pot...

... the rim of an amphora manufactured near Naples between 90BC and 10BC (more pieces of the same amphora have now been found)...
